TRAINING ANNOUNCEMENT

The New Law Enforcement Leadership Model and Why You Need to Know It Now

Presented by: David Rabiner, Ph.D.

Thursday, January 26, 2017 8:00 a.m. — 4:30 p.m.

Bethel Church, 132 Kirkland Road, Napavine, Washington

Please plan to attend this exciting training opportunity, it's not just for law enforcement, to learn from a nationally recognized expert on leadership!

Leadership in law enforcement is changing - fast. Dramatic changes in society and demographics have resulted in changing how excellence in leadership is defined. If new public safety leaders use old leadership as models, they simply might fail. For senior leaders, if you're leading now the way you did it even ten years ago, there's a good chance you're doing it wrong. This program is designed for anyone who currently serves or even desires to serve in a supervisory, management, or leadership role.

David Rabiner is a career speaker, trainer, and facilitator based in Portland, Oregon. During the past 23 years, he has presented on leadership over 2,100 times, in 12 countries, and 46 states. David's law enforcement leadership experience includes clients such as the FBINAA; state associations of sheriffs, police chiefs, and peace officers; and at the local department level. His programs are fast, powerful, and funny; but the most important thing is that they create change, which is the hallmark of speaking and training excellence.
