Target Audience:

This course is designed for those experienced examiners who are eligible, or who will be eligible in the near future to take the IAI Latent Print Certification Test and want to identify their readiness for the examination. This course is not designed to teach the students how to apply ACE-V methodology, nor how to conduct latent print comparisons, but rather to evaluate these skills and abilities in a testing environment.

Attendees Should Bring:

Students should bring the equipment they plan to use for the actual certification test - fingerprint magnifier, ridge counter, etc. Students may also bring a small desk lamp and extension cord for added light.

Dress is business casual.
