About the Speaker Bill Long has been with the Phoenix Police Department for over 22 years. Bill began his career as a patrol officer and later earned a position as a detective in the Gang Enforcement Unit. During this assignment, Detective Long developed a knack for investigating Asian Gangs operating in the Phoenix metropolitan area. In 1995, Detective Long was assigned to the Drug Enforcement Bureau as an undercover detective. This assignment led Detective Long to make countless undercover hand-to-hand purchases of illegal drugs and the authoring of affidavits for search warrants. Detective Long later earned a spot in the Phoenix Police Departments Special Projects Unit continuing his work as an undercover detective. This Unit is unique in the fact that undercover detectives operate as "fences" that purchase stolen property from various suspects. Detective Long had the opportunity to be involved in hundreds of undercover transactions and this assignment included the development and implementation of storefront operations.

Detective Long later gained a position in the Organized Crime Bureau where his focus was the investigation of various Organized Crime Groups, specifically Asian Criminal Enterprises. During this assignment Detective Long was the case agent on several major complex investigations, which included the use of court ordered wiretaps. Because of Detective Longs experience and training in long-term undercover investigations, he was assigned to work with the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms on a case known as Operation Black Biscuit. This investigation led to the infiltration of the Hells Angels in an undercover capacity.

Upon completion of Operation Black Biscuit, Detective Long was promoted to Sergeant and later transferred to a position in the Major Offender Bureau, Career Criminal Squad. It was during this assignment that Sergeant Long managed both complex and undercover operations involving repeat offenders and prison gang members. In 2009, Sergeant Long was assigned to the Phoenix Police Departments Homicide Unit where he manages a Homicide Response Squad.
