Trying to determine if a student is under the influence can be a challenge. This comprehensive one day course is intended to guide anyone working in an educational setting, through a systematic approach, to deter and detect substance abuse. Designed for teachers, professors, administrators, coaches, counselors, intervention specialists, support staff, nurses, security, school resource officers, or any personnel responsible for intervening when a student is suspected of alcohol or drug use. Discover what to do when a student is suspected of being under the influence. Learn what to look for and where. Easy to use strategies will be explored along with helpful ways of identifying a potential drug user. You will walk out of this training with the tools necessary to immediately take on the next alcohol or drug incident that comes your way.
