The Northwest Regional ICAC Task Force has partnered the National District Attorneys Association (NDAA) and the Innocent Justice Foundation to host this coordinated training event. NDAA provides trainings regarding the best practices and procedures used in investigating and prosecuting child abuse cases.

The SHIFT workshop is for individuals exposed to child sexual abuse images and mental health professionals working with them. This course offers professionals who are exposed and who may interact often with child sex offenders the opportunity to learn about the causes and symptoms of the negative effects that may occur as a result of their duties and ways to mitigate them.

Mental health professionals learn about the challenges faced by professionals exposed to child pornography and other operations involving child sex offenders. The course also will provide mental health professionals with tools to help exposed individuals.

Target audience:

Investigators, forensic analysts, prosecutors, judges, court workers, mental health providers, social workers, EAP staff, chaplains and those serving in task forces, as well as anyone interested in learning more about the ICAC program.
