Sergeants' Investigation of Force

Tom Ovens, WCIA Law Enforcement Trainer,
Police Training Solutions

Sergeants' Investigation of Force is a twenty-four hour course that is aimed at delivering essential skills for sergeants to fully investigate and critically analyze use of force incidents.

Like in the transformative practices course, we believe that it is inherent that police supervisors understand the current standards (practices) for using force, documenting force and critically analyzing force incidents.

The course material is derived from the latest best practices for force investigation and analysis. The material in the course is delivered via the experiential learning model to drive discussion and the processing of information to maximize student learning and retention.
