Chiefs and Sheriffs,

This past fall we offered a course developed by the International Association of Chiefs of Police (IACP) and used to develop leaders nationwide. The course was entitled "Leadership in Police Organizations (LPO)" and was taught by some of IACP's most experienced instructors using a curriculum that was recently reworked.

We are very excited to let you know that we are offering a second class beginning the week of April 8th. There will be a five-hour orientation at CJTC on March 21st where students will be given their books and reading assignments to prepare them for the first week of this three-week program. The dates for all three weeks and additional information are attached.

It's important to know that this training has been vetted and is strongly recommended by CJTC. Many of you saw the presentation by Port of Seattle Deputy Chief Rod Covey at the 2012 WASPC Spring Conference. Others of you may have received the feedback from the graduates of our first class. The course received some of the highest scores received by the IACP staff for courses offered this past year.

Please contact Steve Lettic, Division Manager of Advanced Training (CJTC) by email or call him at 206-835-7337. He will describe the application process.
