Presenters and Topics

Presentation Topic	Description	Presenter(s)
The Intersection of the Latino Community, Domestic Violence, and Law Enforcement	This presentation includes in depth information on responding to incidents in the Latino Community and how to effectively de-escalate and provide resources.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Jaime Garcia, Executive Director, Consejo Counseling & Referral Service • Jessie Beck, Domestic Violence and Sexual Assault Program Manager, Consejo Counseling & Referral Service
Suicide by Cop – The Parents Perspective	Parents of a young man with Mental Illness share their story of his attempted Suicide by Cop event.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Mary Jane Thomas, parent • Frank Thomas, parent
From Arrest to Release: What Really Happens with Reentry, A Myth-Busting Example in King County, WA	Attendees will be invited to learn about Seattle/King County in Washington and what happens when individuals with mental health and/or substance use conditions are booked into jail. We will trace through what happens at booking, a brief overview of being identified/triage in the jail with behavioral health needs, to what happens when/if legal competency is raised and the ensuing track to referral over involuntary treatment, to opting in to a specialty court or not; and what jail reentry looks like in this jurisdiction with multiple courts and jails that are not in a unified court system. We will also introduce themes that often come up in reentry/diversion processes, such as harm reduction, court vs. treatment compliance, the importance of housing and community stability – and many misconceptions about each.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Jesse Benet, MHCADSD/CJI • Milena Stott, LICSW, MHP, CDP, Senior Manager of Healthcare Innovation • Randy Vanzandt, DOC, Special Needs Unit • Manka Dhingra, JD, BA, Deputy Prosecuting Attorney, Senior Specialist, Mental Health & Veteran’s Court, King County Prosecuting Attorney’s Office • Hon. Johanna Bender, Judge, King County District Court, Regional Mental Health

NAMI – “In Our Own Voice”	In Our Own Voice (IOOV) is a wonderful program that helps break the stigma about mental illness. It is an opportunity for adults living with mental illness to gain self-confidence and self-esteem by sharing their story. And it is an opportunity for audience members to participate in a meaningful dialogue that will dispel myths and increase real understanding about mental illness and recovery.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Alice, IOOV, NAMI-Eastside • Jesse, IOOV, NAMI - Eastside
Bridging the Gap – Avoiding Re-hospitalization or Incarceration; Peer Bridger support from inpatient services to successful community living.	In June 2013, King County’s first Peer Bridger Program began. This presentation will provide attendees an overview of this dynamic and innovative program, and hear firsthand examples of successful outcomes and challenges. Of particular note to this conference may be the possibility of close partnership between Officers and Peer Bridgers. We would welcome the opportunity to collaborate on the best course of action should law enforcement encounter a program participant in the community.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Cindy Spanton, LICSW, Manager/Supervisor Peer Bridger Program, NAVOS • Topher Jerome, Peer Support Programs Supervisor, Harborview Medical Center
Elders in Crisis Case Study	Review an interesting elder in crisis case from the region. The presentation will include a brief review of the following: Dementia, delirium and other mental health disorders unique to the older population.	Terri Haaga, GMHS, Case Manager II, Geriatric Regional Assessment Team, Evergreen Healthcare
Sobering Support Services in King County	This presentation will cover the services and interventions available at The Dutch Shisler Service Center (DSSC). The center serves as a safe and secure place for persons to sleep off the acute effects of intoxication. It also serves as a recovery access point where people receive case management services, outpatient chemical dependency treatment, and assistance to move towards greater self-determination.	Dan Floyd, CDP, Program Manager, King County Mental Health, Chemical Abuse and Dependency Services Division

Wraparound: for Complex Youth & Families And the Role Law Enforcement Can Play	Panel will discuss services available and how law enforcement can utilize the services.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Sandy Tomlin, LICSW, King County Wraparound Program Specialist • Candace Hunsucker, MA, Center for Human Services Wraparound Coach • Michelle Mann, PhD, Community Psychiatric Clinic Wraparound Coach • Aja Ramos, LICSW, Sound Mental Health Wraparound Coach • Arlene Hampton, AA, Therapeutic Health Services Wraparound Coach • Sarah Boye, MA, Valley Cities Counseling & Consultation Wraparound Coach
Screening for Psychopathy	Curtis St. Denis, MA is in private practice and works for Allies in Change Counseling Center in Beaverton, Oregon, and he is an assistant Adjunct Professor at Portland State University. He has worked in the field of forensic psychology since 1983, including work in three prisons and the Oregon State Hospital. His work includes treatment and evaluation of sex offenders, batterers, mentally ill offenders, psychopaths and violent offenders.	Curtis St. Denis, MA, LMHC, Allies in Change Counseling Center and Innovative Counseling Enterprises

King County Veterans Program – Connecting Vets to Services Before Crisis	Since the 1950s, the King County Veterans' Program (KCVV) has served low-income, homeless, and disabled veterans and their dependents. Formerly known as the Soldiers' and Sailors' Emergency Relief Act, the Veterans' Assistance Fund is one of the oldest laws in the RCW and governs the KCVV. In addition to providing emergency financial assistance to veterans, KCVV deescalates clients in crisis through providing case management, support services and personal engagement with trained social workers. This presentation will focus on identifying situational risk factors that can lead to criminogenic behavior as well as provide resources to address these risk factors prior to criminal justice involvement.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Bryan Fry, MA, King County Veterans Program/Career Connections Supervisor Community Services Division WorkSource Renton • Kevin Devine, Veterans Justice Outreach Coordinator, VA Puget Sound • Mike Nielsen, Special Projects Developer, Community Psychiatric Clinic • Nathaniel Boehme, MS, BS, Program Supervisor, Project THRIVE for Veterans • Heather L. Safe Sleep/ Tips and Tools to Effectively Respond to a Sudden Unexplained Infant Death (SUID) Call	Review the new Safe Sleep Video and gain tips on responding to a crisis call of a potential SUID or child injury.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Patti Toth, Child Abuse Program Manager, WSCJTC • Deborah Robinson, Death Investigation Specialist, SUIDI

Jail Mental Health	This breakout session will cover issues surrounding mental health issues in jails across the country and what Marion County has done to address these issues. This will include innovative collaborations between mental health and law enforcement to divert the number of mentally ill going to jail or the hospital. This presentation will also include how to fund resources to accomplish this goal. This will include existing agency resources as well as outside state and federal funds that have been dedicated to this cause. Marion County has experienced great success by pooling resources, seeking creative funding solutions and working together to achieve a common goal.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Tad Larson, Lieutenant, Marion County Sheriff's Office • Lisa Stewart, PhD, Mental Health Specialist II, Marion County Jail
Living with Traumatic Brain Injury and Successful Ways to Assist	Deputy Scott Mandella had only been with the King County Sheriff's Office for one year when his patrol car left the road in May 2009. Deputy Mandella suffered a Traumatic Brain Injury and began his recovery with a three week stay at Harborview Medical Center. After three months of intensive rehabilitation, he returned to duty with the King County Sheriff's Office. Today, Deputy Mandella continues his patrol duties and is a member of the Sheriff's Hostage Negotiation Team and assists with local CIT instruction. This class will include a Critical Incident Stress Management section on how to provide supports to the officer, family, and agency.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Scott Mandella, Deputy, King County Sheriff's Office • James Detrick, Ret. Sgt., Auburn PD, Code 4 Northwest

Accessing Services In and Out of Therapeutic Courts: King County's Re-entry Model	This workshop is aimed at anyone who touches the criminal justice system, regardless of whether their jurisdiction has therapeutic courts. Using King County's specialty courts and re-entry services as examples, this presentation aims to show how therapeutic models can be used to serve the greatest number of people with as many or as few resources as a local jurisdiction has. Not every jurisdiction has specialty courts, and not every participant is appropriate for specialty courts, so this presentation will discuss the pros and cons of specialty courts, how to adapt some specialty court principles to mainstream courts, and how social service providers and the jail can bridge the gaps for those who cannot be served by therapeutic courts.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Pete DeSanto, Deputy Prosecuting Attorney, King County Prosecuting Attorney's Office • Meagan Condon, MA, LMHC, King County-Public Health Jail Health Services Release Planning Manager for the King County Correctional Center (KCCF) and the Maleng Regional Justice Center (RJC) • Allison Howard, Housing Case Manager, King County Drug Diversion Court • Abbey Perkins, J.D., Lead Defense Attorney, King County Department of Public Defense, Associated Council for the Accused Division • Katie Blackstone, LICSW, CDPT, Clinical Supervisor, Pioneer Human Services at Pioneer Counseling Services Outpatient Treatment and Co-Occurring Residential Program (CORP)
Answering the Calls and So Much More: 9-1-1	The first link in the public safety chain is 9-1-1. Learn what is new in the 9-1-1 centers that could be affecting you, your citizens and the community as a whole. Attendees will hear about Smart911, Text-to-9-1-1 and NG911.	Kayreen Lum, Program Coordinator, King County E-911 Program Office

Jail: The New Psychiatric Treatment Facility	As funding for psychiatric inpatient beds decreased and involuntary commitment laws became more restrictive over the past several decades, those with severe and persistent mental illness ended up in the one intensive community structure left—jails and prisons. As settings that were never designed to house or treat these types of issues, correctional settings around the country have worked tirelessly to develop and implement meaningful practices for managing the high risk behaviors of those with mental illness. In more recent years this also led to the development of innovative treatment strategies for working with these persons in the context of corrections. This presentation will provide historical and legal background of psychiatric treatment in jails and prisons, discuss the impact that jailing the population has on recidivism rates, and talk about pioneering practices to improve outcomes for these settings.	Mike Stanfill, PhD, Psychiatric Service Manager for Jail Health Services, Public Health/Seattle-King County
Emotional and Wellness Survival for the Public Safety Professional	(this will be presented in two successive sessions)	Troy Clausen, Undersheriff, Marion County Sheriff's Office, Oregon Beth Hawk, SHIELD Study staff member, Marion County Sheriff's Office, Oregon
Autism: Own Little World	Learn about Autism Spectrum Disorders and responding to individuals in crisis.	Curtis St. Denis, LMHC, Allies in Change Counseling Center and Innovative Counseling Enterprises

Better Understanding Refugees in Our Community	Participants will learn how and why refugees come to the United States, and what benefits they get when they arrive. The workshop will also contain an overview of more recent refugee arrival groups and which groups are anticipated in the next year. Participants will learn about local resources and community based organizations. Participants are encouraged to ask questions about things they have always wondered or that they encounter in their work when working with refugees.	Beth Farmer, LICSW, Lutheran Community Services NW
LEAD: Law Enforcement Assisted Diversion Project	In October 2011, the Law Enforcement Assisted Diversion (LEAD) Project began pilot operations in one Seattle neighborhood. LEAD is a collaborative effort involving the Seattle Police Department, the City Attorney, the King County Prosecutor, case managers at Evergreen Treatment Services, and others to divert individuals arrested for drug offenses or prostitution out of the criminal justice system and into an intensive harm reduction based case management program offering a broad range of services as close to on-demand as possible. To date, 77% of those diverted have been homeless, almost all are chemically dependent, and many have mental health problems. LEAD is generating interest in other areas for its innovative approach. This panel discussion will describe how LEAD came to be, how LEAD has altered the approach of police and prosecutors towards homeless substance users and sex workers, how it can be replicated, and how LEAD has affected the lives of participants.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Kris Nyrop, MA, LEAD Program Director, Public Defender Association • Cathy Speelmon, BA, NCACII, CDP, LEAD Program Manager, Evergreen Treatment Services • Chloe Gale, MSW, Co-Director, REACH Program, Evergreen Treatment Services • Ian Goodhew, Senior Deputy Prosecuting Attorney, King County Prosecuting Attorney's Office • Ron Jackson, MSW, LICSW, Co-Principal Investigator, Washington Node of NIDA's Clinical Trials Network

Extreme Behaviors in Adolescents and Children	Is the child/youth self-harming? Running Away? Aggressive behaviors in the community: punching, kicking, and/or biting others? We believe that behavior is a form of communication and in our workshop we will discuss possible motivations and best practice interventions for law enforcement and others to utilize to support individuals and the family in the community.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Angela West, MA, LMHC, MHP, Clinical Supervisor, YMCA-Children’s Crisis Outreach Response System • CCORS Team Members
Breaking Cultural Barriers & Winning Maximum Cooperation	You may know that most minorities under-report crime and are extremely reluctant to cooperate. Alan shall tell you the reasons behind them. He shall demonstrate ways to break down cultural barriers and enhance their cooperation. You are going to walk away knowing the best way to use interpreters so nothing gets lost in translation. Alan Lai had worked as a Probation Officer and Victim Advocate, both in Hong Kong and in the greater Seattle area for the last 29 years. He is fluent in Chinese, Cantonese, Mandarin, and English. He is a National Crime Victim Service Award winner.	Alan Ping-Lun Lai, Crime Victim Service Director, Chinese Information Service Center (CISC)
Mental Health Practitioners working with Law Enforcement & Selecting the Right One	Dr. Young will discuss ways to determine the best incorporation of mental health practitioners into your agency and the hiring process.	Dr. Andy Young, Professor in Behavioral Sciences, Lubbock Christian University, SWAT Negotiator, Lubbock Police Department, Texas
Hostage Negotiation Team Callouts and the Use of Mental Health Practitioners	As a SWAT Negotiator, Dr. Young will discuss his role in HNT Callouts, personal experiences, and provide tools on how to use mental health practitioners at your agency.	Dr. Andy Young, Professor in Behavioral Sciences, Lubbock Christian University, SWAT Negotiator, Lubbock Police Department, Texas

Keynote Speaker

Retired Sgt. Kevin Briggs, California Highway Patrol –Working the Golden Gate Bridge: Preventing Suicide Attempts

In 1990, he entered the California Highway Patrol (CHP) academy. After graduating, he was assigned to the Hayward, CA, area office. He later transferred to the Marin area office where he was primarily assigned until he retired after 23 years of service. As an officer he worked predominately on the Golden Gate Bridge. This assignment proved to be very challenging, as the Golden Gate Bridge produced an average of four to six suicidal subjects, multiple traffic collisions, and dozens of other general law enforcement “calls” each month. Sgt. Briggs will talk about the experiences and the use of Crisis Intervention Team training techniques in his career. Don’t miss this impactful presentation.
