

Electronic billing will roll out at different times. Your roll out date depends on what kind of tax group you fall in. The 1099 providers, who deliver social services and medical services, will transition to the new payment system in late 2014. Individual Providers, known as W-2 providers, will transition to a separate timekeeping system in 2015.

Below are examples of providers transitioning to ProviderOne in 2014.

Social Services Providers

Residential

- adult family home
- alternative living
- assisted living
- companion home
- DDA children's residential
- group homes
- supported living

Other Social Services

- adult day care center
- assistive technology
- client training
- community choice guide
- environmental modification
- respite and/or recreation agency
- home care agency
- home delivered meals
- personal emergency response system (PERS)
- transportation services

Medical Services Providers

Credentialed Professionals

- adult day health center
- counselors (certified, or licensed mental health)
- licensed psychologists
- medical equipment and supplies
- nursing and nurse delegators
- physical, occupational, and speech therapists

In late 2014, the way you get paid will change. Providers, like you, who receive payment for serving Medicaid-eligible clients, will transition from the Social Service Payment System (SSPS) to the system known as ProviderOne.

So what's it all about?

ProviderOne is an efficient electronic billing system that allows social service and medical providers to enjoy greater flexibility in managing their Medicaid claims.

You must transition to online billing

Are you wondering if you're a provider required to switch to the electronic payment system?

You will transition, if you:

- contract with Washington State to provide Medicaid services,
- serve clients of Home & Community Services or the Developmental Disabilities Administration,
- receive invoices from the Social Services Payment System (SSPS), and
- receive a 1099 tax form.

We have put together a series of introductory video presentations that give you the basic concepts of the payment and claims management system.

Be sure to visit the ProviderOne website for up-to-date news, training information and tutorials.