RE: Temporary Water Right Application No. S4-35359 for Irrigation To Re-establish Wildlife Habitat.

THIS AUTHORIZATION SHALL IN NO MANNER BE CONSTRUED TO GUARANTEE OR IMPLY THAT A PERMANENT WATER RIGHT WILL ISSUE FOR THE WATER USE HEREIN AUTHORIZED.

Background

On June 16, 2010, Washington State Department of Fish and Wildlife (WDFW) of Olympia, WA filed 12 applications to temporarily divert water from 12 unnamed springs. Each application requests to divert water in the amount of 0.013 cfs (6 gpm) and five acre-feet per year, and to irrigate up to five acres per year per application. The period of use is proposed to be April 1 through October 31 from 2011 through 2020. The water is to be used to irrigate shrubs and trees for wildlife habitat restoration.

The 12 applications are proposed to divert water and irrigate lands within the;

FILE COPY

The proposed irrigation application method is gravity fed drip lines to irrigate at the base of each shrub and tree. It is anticipated that it will take one to three years to stabilize the trees and shrubs within a given five-acre plot. As the trees and shrubs are established in a given plot, the applicant will move to a new five-acre plot.

The proposed springs only express water for a short distance and then returns to subsurface flow. The applicant proposes to install a catch basin at each spring to collect the water for irrigation. The water will be piped to the irrigation lines. Any water that is not diverted will remain in its original drainage.

A site visit was conducted by Eric Hartwig and John Kirk from the Department of Ecology and Daniel Peterson from the WDFW on May 26, 2011.

Other Water Rights

There are no other water rights appurtenant to this place of use.

Public Notice

Public notice of the application was published in the Quad City Herald of Brewster, Washington on October 27, and November 3, 2011. No letters of protest or comments were received during the 30-day protest period.

Water Availability and Impairment

Because of the small nature of these springs and the quantities of water being requested the use should have no effect upon the flow of the Columbia River. The water is available in these quantities to be diverted for the irrigation of the trees and shrubs. The land surrounding these springs are owned by WDFW and are maintained for wildlife habitat.

Public Interest

The use of this water for irrigation is a beneficial use. By the water use being used to re-establish wildlife habitat it would not be contrary to public interest.

Conclusions and Decision

There is water available for the proposed project and can take place on a temporary basis without impairing existing water rights, is a beneficial use, and is not contrary to public interest.

This Temporary Authorization is subject to the following limitations and provisions:

1. The priority date of this water right is June 6, 2010.
2. The point of diversion will be located within SW¼ SE¼ Section 27 T. 29 N., R. 25 E.W.M. Douglas County, Parcel No. 29252720000.

Copies of these records shall be submitted to the Department of Ecology by January 31 of each year.
11. The following information shall be included with each submittal of water use data: owner, contact name if different, mailing address, daytime phone number, WRIA, Permit No., source name and maximum instantaneous rate of diversion (cubic feet per second).
